Where can I access it?

InterviewStream can be accessed in the Resource Library through your Handshake account.

InterviewStream FAQs

InterviewStream is a web-based tool for practicing job interviews. Read below for the Who What Where When Why and How of this handy interview prep resource. Learn more about InterviewStream’s benefits with this online slideshow.

Who can use it?

All current CSU College of Business majors and alumni have InterviewStream access.

What is it exactly?

It’s a web platform where you create, record, and review your own mock interviews.

When should I use it?

1. Start now! You can use InterviewStream whenever you have quiet space and computer/webcam access.
2. Use InterviewStream if you can’t make it to campus for a “real live” mock interview. If you CAN come to campus, schedule a formal mock interview or an individual appointment with a counselor at the College of Business Career Management Center (970-491-1540). InterviewStream complements these resources, but there’s no substitute for the real deal.

Why should I use it?

1. Preparing is key for interview success.
2. Seeing yourself live is a powerful way to improve your answers and presentation.

How do I use it?

Once you create an account, watch the tutorial on how to create, record, and review your interviews. Take a look at other helpful resources like InterviewStream’s interview webinar for more information on putting your best foot forward in interviews.
