Accounting Electives

There are a number of Accounting courses you can take as electives (ACT537 - Advanced Taxation of Business Entities, ACT540 - Professional Ethics and Responsibilities, ACT541 - Forensic Accounting & Fraud Auditing, ACT561 - Legal & Regulatory Issues in Accounting, ACT570 - Government & Nonprofit, ACT575 - Oil & Gas Accounting). Prior to planning you will need to consult with your Business Academic Advisor.

CPA Licensure Information

There are a number of steps you must take to become a licensed Certified Public Accountant (CPA); to learn more about the specific requirements and regulations you must achieve, visit CPA or (<https://biz.colostate.edu/academics/undergraduate-programs/bsba/accounting/colorado-cpa-licensing-requirements>).

Master of Accountancy (MAcc)

Graduates of the Master of Accountancy (MAcc) program are well prepared to become Certified Public Accountants (CPA). The program's unique blend of courses provides a wealth of practical job-related knowledge as well as the in-depth topic coverage needed to successfully sit for the national Uniform CPA Examination.
